

The Stan Maes Early Career Award of the EHPS

The Stan Maes Early Career Award

The Stan Maes Early Career award aims to recognise outstanding research excellence, contributions made to the EHPS and/or contributions to professional practice made by EHPS members.

Eligibility

Eligible for Stan Maes Early Career award are EHPS members within 5 years of being awarded their PhD. In case of sustained career interruptions through maternity/paternity leave, illness or other reasons, individuals who obtained their PhD before this deadline are eligible. In this case, please make the case and provide appropriate evidence.

Applicants must have been an active EHPS member for at least two years when submitting the application. An active EHPS member will have paid the EHPS membership fee for the past two years when submitting the application.

Criteria for the Stan Maes Early Career Award

The Stan Maes Early Career award will be awarded to applicants who have made a significant early career contribution to health psychological science and/or practice or to the EHPS as judged by a committee chaired by the EHPS President-Elect.

EHPS members may nominate themselves, or other EHPS members.

The committee will normally make several awards per year.

Application materials (please submit)

1. Brief CV (max 2 pages)
2. Summary of their work and its impact in the 5 years since their PhD (max 500 words)
3. Proof of PhD award (with date)
4. Photograph of applicant (jpeg file)

Award

The award winners will be announced at the EHPS conference. The successful applicants will be invited to attend the EHPS conference free of charge and be given the opportunity to give an oral presentation about their work during the conference.
